in two, breaking the skull at that point. The wounds were evidently inflicted with a two-pound weight, which was found near him besmeared with blood.

Contrary to his custom, he had his pistol in his pocket, of which one barrel had been shot-gun, left at the store by an old negro, was found on the floor, and had been dis-SUNDAY-SCHOOL FESTIVAL AND PRESENTA- charged, the contents having entered the floor near where Mr. Dotson was found.

> He is alive at 7 o'clock to-night, but cannot live long, and being unconscious, of course cannot give any explanation of his situation. Various are the conjectures as to who were the perpetrators of this horrible an improvement in stocks and gold. The sales of crime, but in fact there is not as yet the slightest clue that might lead to their detecknow him. He has a family.

[Second Dispatch.] DYING DECLARATION OF MR. DOTSON-HE TELLS THE FEARFUL STORY OF THE ASSAULT-THE MURDERER ARRESTED.

GREENBRIEB WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. VA., December 31.—To-night about 7 o'clock Mr. A. C. Liggett, a special officer of this county, called at the house of Mr. Dotson, the gentleman who was so fearfully butchered this morning, to inquire his condition. Upon being invited in, he approached the bedside of the dying man and, kneeling at his side, asked him if he would not tell him who hurt him. Greatly to the surprise and spoke and said: "Ned Rives did it. He came to the store after midnight last night, bought a bill of goods of me amounting to $26.65, took them up, and started away without paying me. I asked him to stop, which he did, but failing to agree upon any terms of settlement, I asked him to wait in the store until morning, when we could adjust it. This he consented to do, but knowing fallen asleep, for the next thing I knew was when I realized that I was lying upon the head with a two-pound weight. I managed | brands, $8. Prime nve-goose, 50@60c.; common, to draw my pistol and fire, and remember no more."

Rives used the gun mentioned in my first dispatch. Until approached by Mr. Ligwhooping-cough, scrofulous humors, and all con- gett, Mr. Dotson had not uttered a word since being discovered by Dr. Nelson early this morning. Liggett started at once for tenductor; J. R. Currie, assistant conductal complaints of the chest, lungs, or throat. Manuthis place, whither he learned Rives had George D. LOUISVILLE LEAF-TOBACCO MARKET. DECEMBER 28.—The feature of the market to-day was the appearance in the breaks of three hogs-heads of tobacco grown in California by a former resident and planter of Kentucky. This tobacco, the product of Kentucky seed, and also of the me-thods of cultivation and curing practiced in this state, had the appearance of bright Mi souri leaf. It had been handled and prized in a superior man-ner, and was packed in full-sized hogsheads. Two hogsheads sold at about $400 per cental—a price which well justified the cost of transportation across the continent. The most interesting point in the matter is the fact that the grower of this tobacco states that he is about to cut the second crop produced in the current

BALTIMORE CATTLE MARKET.

DECEMBER 21.—Beef Cattle.—The market opened with some little life, and there were some better cattle than there were last week. Christmas cattle, and prices for such were 1. @Yo. during most of the time, while such were undisposed of, in fact, but the advance was with difficulty obtained, opera-tions being forced in which any advance was established. There was sold by Messrs. — Brother & Uo. to Mr. Taylor, of Trenton, N. J., the best five-year-old bullock, welghing 3,000 pounds, that has ever been seen here, so pronounces by competent judges. Towards the close the market became uil, and so concluded. Prices to day for beef ca'tle ranged as follows: duil, and so concluded.
Prices to-day for beef cattle ranged as follows:
Best beeves at $5.75@$7; that generally rates first quality, $4.75@$5.75; medium or good fair quality, $3.50@$4.75; ordinary thin steers, oxen, and cows, $3.25@$4.75; ordinary thin steers, oxen, and cows, $3.25@$3.50; Interior and lowest grades of cattle $0.60@$0.00; general average of the market to-day, $4.50; extreme range of prices, $3.50@$7. Most of the sales were from $4@$5.25 $100 fbs. Of the receipts 540 head came from Ohio, $03 from Virginia, 304 from West Virginia, 67 from Maryland, $7 from Kentucky, 101 nead from Pennsylvania, and 8 head from the District of Columbia, making the total receipts for the week 1.823 head, $2.748 last week, and 1,133 head same time last year. Of the offerings 755 head were taken by Ballimore butchers, 229 sold to York county (Penn.) dealers, 61 to Washington and country d aiers, and 295 sold to eastern speculators. DECEMBER 28.-Horses.-The market is still bare of almost all grades, the demand for which is DECRIBER 28.—Horses.—The market is still bare of almost all grades, the demand for which is active and strong. A number of personal buyers are in the market, who, together with the standing orders unfilled, present an inquiry which immediately takes up all wrivals. Within a few cays past there has been a good demand for fifteen to sixteen-hand mares, four to eight years old, wanted for the West, South, and East. This description or demand is greater than usual for the class wanted. The eastern and southern trade are well sustained in demand, but not in supply. Prices consequently rule very firm at quotations, which are now advanced $10@$15 \( \frac{1}{2} \) head on extra plugs, common southern horses, fair to extra heavy workers; easters, extra; St. Louis streeters, common and extra; and extra draughthorses. Horses are wanted, actively so. United States Army officers have been in the market, and will remain for a while, to buy cavalry horses. They purchased lately two car-loads at $50@$110 \( \frac{2}{2} \) head.

Mules.—There are less mules in the market at the present than for any one period during the last five execute.

mutes.—There are less mutes in the market at one present than for any one period during the last five months. Prices had become so low that country shippers got disgusted and kept their stock at home, resulting now in a clean market, that cannot begin to answer the demand for all grades, except thin, that are not wanted specially, though when offered they are taken by Hilmols feeders. DECEMBER 28.—The market is firmer nominally, and spot meats held up strongly, but there were no fransactions that indicated any enthusiasm in the temporary advance. There is no solid feeling that looks to important operations on the present basis. Those who have packed at recent prices of large, and hold any amount of stock, feel a sured of ultimate outcome profitably with their material, and are taking all efferings of desirable nogs at current rates, so that the sentiment 1) evidently very undetermined and divided among the best of our thinkers and dealers on this subject, and consequently tends to keep the market disturbed and unsettled. Our people are so unlike those of Chicago in this like that it is difficult to say whether they can be be brought to the gambling point before the season is spent; but human nature is very general, and its principles may subsequently apply here as ST.
